

Marine Group Boat Works Ready for Unveiling

THE $6 MILLION renovation of the Marine Group's state-of-the-art yard facility in San Diego, California, is over. The 660-ton travel lift – the largest in the U.S. – is assembled, the expansion project is completed and the management team is in place.

New staff additions include two management team members: Fred Larsson, who spent the last five years as captain of the award-winning Attesa, will now take the reigns as director of the superyacht division, and Bill Waite, a competitive

Bill Waite

Fred Larsson

sailboat racer, is now director of business development. Waite actively raced sailboats of all sizes for the last 30 years and was director of hospitality for Stars & Stripes when his team brought home the America's Cup in 1986.

www.marinegroupbw.com

Rich, Famous Steer Yachts to Marine Group Boat Works

San Diego Business Journal: 1/29/2007

The Marine Group Boat Works built it — the nation's largest lift for mega yachts — and more of the super-rich who own such vessels are coming to town for refitting.

On the move

February 28, 2007

Marine Group Boat Works, located at the Port of San Diego, has named Fred Larsson director of superyacht operations and Bill Waite director of business development. Larsson spent the past five years as captain and project manager of the superyacht Atessa. Waite has raced sailboats for 30 years and was director of hospitality for the Stars & Stripes when the team won the America's Cup in 1987.